How it works

Airline lounges

Executive Explorer cardholders must use their Executive Explorer card to purchase passes and/or memberships for participating airline lounges.

LoungeKey access

Executive Explorer cardholders must identify themselves as a LoungeKey member at check-in for each visit and present their Executive Explorer card, boarding pass or valid flight ticket for the same day of travel. Guest access fees are automatically processed toward the lounge access statement credit if Executive Explorer card is used.

All qualifying transactions are automatically processed and cardholders will receive a statement credit for the transaction amount, up to $600USD<sup>1</sup> within four weeks.

Bank of America has no control over airline or LoungeKey program requirements including, but not limited to, applications, approval process, availability approval process or enrollment, liability or fees charged or services provided by these providers.
