

Portfolio Reconciliation Disclosures

Disclosures for Portfolio Reconciliation Valuations

Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act (“DF”) and European Market Infrastructure Regulation (“EMIR”) require certain Bank of America entities (collectively, “BofA”) to perform portfolio reconciliation and, among other things, exchange or review valuations of each swap or security-based swap in each swap or security-based swap portfolio of BofA (“Portfolio Reconciliation Valuations”). All Portfolio Reconciliation Valuations are for DF and EMIR compliance purposes only, are strictly confidential and are only for the sole use of the intended recipient. Reproduction, publication or distribution of any Portfolio Reconciliation Valuations to anyone else without the prior written consent of BofA is prohibited.

All Portfolio Reconciliation Valuations: (i) are indicative only, as of the date and time (if any) specified, and subject to change without notice; (ii) do not necessarily reflect the actual prices or spread levels at which BofA or any other party would enter into swap or security-based swap transactions with you and do not constitute an actual bid or offer, or solicitation of a bid or offer, to enter into any swap or security-based swap transactions; (iii) do not necessarily reflect the prices or spread levels at which these swaps or security-based swaps or other products could or would be terminated or closed out at any time or at which any new swap or security-based swap transaction could be entered into with BofA or any third party; (iv) do not necessarily take into account potential illiquidity due to the size of a swap or security-based swap transaction or illiquidity resulting from the lack of an actively traded market for such transaction; and (v) do not necessarily reflect the values of swaps or security-based swaps or other products carried on the books and records of BofA or of the values produced by pricing and/or other models used by BofA or other sources. Valuations based on other models or differing assumptions or for different purposes may yield different results. Be advised that calls for margin or collateral or payments to be made by you or BofA under the swaps or security-based swap transactions may be based on considerations other than these valuations provided to you.

Portfolio Reconciliation Valuations are based on information currently available to BofA’s Client Valuations Team, which may include information that is not reflective of current market conditions or has not otherwise been updated. Future valuations will reflect additional information if and when received. Further, valuations may be based on information made available to the BofA Client Valuations Team through PriceServe®. PriceServe is the marketing name for Merrill Lynch Valuations, LLC, a pricing service that is independent of BofA trading desks and incorporates market information from multiple sources including, but not limited to BofA trading desks. Merrill Lynch Valuations, LLC is a subsidiary of Bank of America Corporation.

BofA makes no representation or warranty, express or implied, of any kind, including without limitation, as to the accuracy or completeness of any Portfolio Reconciliation Valuations or with respect to the sources or methods employed in deriving such valuations. Portfolio Reconciliation Valuations are derived using information from sources and methods that BofA considers appropriate, but BofA does not guarantee the accuracy or completeness of such information and has not necessarily reviewed all relevant information that is in the public domain or otherwise available to BofA. Portfolio Reconciliation Valuations are not a recommendation for transactions or investment advice, are explicitly not provided for any legal, tax, accounting or trading purpose, and may not under any circumstance be relied upon for purposes of calculating net asset value, complying with any financial reporting obligation, calculating any tax liability or otherwise complying with any tax reporting obligation. Illiquid and complex financial instruments may be difficult to value and you should consult your own accounting or other advisors as to the adequacy of Portfolio Reconciliation Valuations for your purposes.

BofA and its directors, officers, employees and agents shall have no liability to you or any other party for loss, claims, damages, liabilities, costs or expenses (direct or indirect, special or consequential) arising from the use of or reliance on Portfolio Reconciliation Valuations or from any errors or omissions in computing or delivering Portfolio Reconciliation Valuations or any conclusions described or expressed in such Portfolio Reconciliation Valuations, including those due to any act of negligence or breach of warranty. Portfolio Reconciliation Valuations are not intended to confer any rights upon you or any other entity against BofA or any of its directors, officers, agents or employees, or any other party controlling any of the foregoing. BofA may have material interests that conflict with your interests. BofA may be providing or may have provided advisory, investment banking, lending, or other services to counterparties mentioned in Portfolio Reconciliation Valuations. BofA may hold material information which has not been taken into account when developing the Portfolio Reconciliation Valuations and BofA shall not be obligated to disclose or take into account such information when undertaking any Portfolio Reconciliation Valuation. Further information on any Portfolio Reconciliation Valuations may be available upon request. BofA and/or its directors, officers, employees and agents may from time to time enter into swap or security-based swap transactions or other derivative contracts related to the Portfolio Reconciliation Valuations. If BofA is used in connection with any swap or security-based swap transaction or other derivative contracts related to a Portfolio Reconciliation Valuation, BofA may act as principal for its own account or as agent for both the buyer and the seller. BofA in the past may have managed or co-managed a public offering of any securities referenced in the Portfolio Reconciliation Valuations.

“Bank of America” and “BofA Securities” are the marketing names used by the Global Banking and Global Markets divisions of Bank of America Corporation. Lending, other commercial banking activities, and trading in certain financial instruments are performed globally by banking affiliates of Bank of America Corporation, including Bank of America, N.A., a member of FDIC. Trading in securities and financial instruments and strategic advisory and other investment banking activities are performed globally by investment banking affiliates of Bank of America Corporation (“Investment Banking Affiliates”), including, in the United States, BofA Securities, Inc. and Merrill Lynch Professional Clearing Corp., both of which are registered broker-dealers and members of SIPC, and, in other jurisdictions, by locally registered entities. BofA Securities, Inc. and Merrill Lynch Professional Clearing Corp. are registered as futures commission merchants with the CFTC and are members of the NFA. Investment products offered by Investment Banking Affiliates: Are Not FDIC Insured * May Lose Value * Are Not Bank Guaranteed. ©2021 Bank of America Corporation. All rights reserved