

Be cyber secure: password protection

Your passwords are your first line of defense against cybercrime. If cybercriminals gain access to your passwords, they can take over your accounts, steal your identity and use your contacts to reach out to family and friends and steal their information too. Fortunately, there are simple password best practices to help keep you and your data safe from cybercriminals.

→ With your passwords and access, cybercriminals can:

- Transfer funds out of your accounts or charge purchases to them.
- Create a fake identity with some of your information and use it to open a new credit card or apply for a loan.
- Phish using your email address or social media accounts to reach your contacts and convince them to share confidential information.
- Steal your identity and claim your tax refund or government benefits.

→ Be proactive:

- Use a password manager — a software program that stores your passwords in a single secure location accessible using a master password.
- Avoid writing down your passwords or storing them on your computer.
- Use unique passwords of at least eight characters for all your accounts.
- Use multifactor authentication and enable biometric logins when possible.
- Lock mobile devices with a strong password or biometric protection and avoid all public, unsecured Wi-Fi networks.
- Use a pin number for tax submissions and government benefits.

→ If you suspect you have been targeted:

- Don't delay. Act quickly if you think your passwords have been stolen, if you receive a changed password notification from providers, or if your account access changes on apps.
- Freeze financial accounts that may be affected and inform credit bureaus.
- Know and follow your local laws and guidelines for cyber incidents.
- Document everything about the event. The more information you have, the better armed you may be to assist an investigation by your company, your bank and law enforcement officials, and the better prepared you will be against future events.

Visit www.bankofamerica.com/security to learn how to help protect yourself and those closest to you.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

Neither Bank of America nor its affiliates provide information security or information technology (IT) consulting services. This material is provided "as is", with no guarantee of completeness, accuracy, timeliness or of the results obtained from the use of this material, and without warranty of any kind, express or implied, including, but not limited to warranties of performance, quality and fitness for a particular purpose. This material should be regarded as general information on information security and IT considerations and is not intended to provide specific information security or IT advice nor is it any substitute for your own independent investigations. If you have questions regarding your particular IT system or information security concerns, please contact your IT or information security advisor.

Bank of America Private Bank is a division of Bank of America, N.A., Member FDIC, and a wholly-owned subsidiary of BofA Corp.

Banking products are provided by Bank of America, N.A., and affiliated banks, Members FDIC, and wholly-owned subsidiaries of BofA Corp.

"Bank of America" and "BofA Securities" are the marketing names used by the Global Banking and Global Markets divisions of Bank of America Corporation. Lending, other commercial banking activities, and trading in certain financial instruments are performed globally by banking affiliates of Bank of America Corporation, including Bank of America, N.A., Member FDIC. Trading in securities and financial instruments, and strategic advisory, and other investment banking activities, are performed globally by investment banking affiliates of Bank of America Corporation ("Investment Banking Affiliates"), including, in the United States, BofA Securities, Inc. and Merrill Lynch Professional Clearing Corp., both of which are registered broker-dealers and Members of SIPC, and, in other jurisdictions, by locally registered entities. BofA Securities, Inc. and Merrill Lynch Professional Clearing Corp. are registered as futures commission merchants with the CFTC and are members of the NFA.

Investment products:

Are Not FDIC Insured	Are Not Bank Guaranteed	May Lose Value
----------------------	-------------------------	----------------

© 2024 Bank of America Corporation. All rights reserved. 6657429